ICT Group appoints Karim Henkens as CEO

Karim Henkens has been appointed CEO of ICT Group B.V. with effect from 1 September 2022. He succeeds Jos Blejje, who will step down on 1 July due to retirement. Jos Blejje started as CEO at ICT Group in 2013 and under his leadership the company has experienced strong growth, both organically and through national and international acquisitions.

Karim Henkens previously worked at IT service provider Cegeka as managing director for the northern region of the group. Before that he held various positions at Centric, including that of CEO. He has an extensive track record in the IT world, both nationally and internationally, and is an energetic and committed leader. From 1 September, he will be responsible for further strengthening ICT Group's market position in the Netherlands and Northern Europe.

Theo van der Raadt, chairman of the Supervisory Board of ICT Group B.V.: "We are convinced that Karim Henkens is the right man to fulfil ICT Group's ambition to grow further as a leading European supplier of total solutions for industrial automation. We thank Jos Blejje for his unbridled commitment over the past nine years and wish Karim every success in his new challenge".
